AUCTION COMMENTARY

It wasn't all doom and gloom at todays Napier Independent Auction, with well-presented long hogget wool continuing to attract good attention from the trade.
Today's market reflects levels last seen in May this year, highlighting the softer tone currently being experienced across the wool market.

MARKET EXPORTS

Orders have eased, with manufacturers treading carefully as they navigate the current economic conditions. China has also put the brakes on, adding further pressure to the market.
Despite the challenges, quality and well-presented wool continue to stand out and attract buyer interest.
Preparation is KEY ALWAYS.
